Shun them!

The nonbelievers are quiet as Michael is tied for 1st in Fail

Picked up the pieces while wondering when seasonal depression will hit now that we have darkness at 4:30...

■ One of the ways you can measure how good a defensive player has been is to check how often they have been on the All Week Team. To appear on that list, you pretty much need to be the top option at your position, unlike on offense where we count the WR3 the same as the WR1. While Tyreek Hill and Ja'Marr Chase lead everyone with 8 appearances, we have 3 defensive players with 5: Fred Warner, Jordyn Brooks, and Antoine Winfield.

■ Another year passes, and we have never had someone with the record of 2-7. We also have not had someone with a record of 2-8, but Jennette can hit that with a win this week.

■ Quiz: Give me the All Rookie Team if the season ended today, based on total points. The All Rookie Team has 1 QB, 2 RBs, 3 WRs, 1 TE, and 1 Flex.

■ With a 7-2 all play record this week, Drew has beaten his (and the league's) low of 17 total all play wins. 2022 Drew stands alone for another

■ With a 9-0 all play record week, Andrew jumps to over .500 all time in APR, joining Jack, Berdos, Kyle, Brian, and Michael.

■ To show how unlikely ties are, we have only had one instance where two teams scored the same points as each other in the same week. They weren't playing each other, but back in 2021 week 12, Brian and Michael both scored 151.52 points.

■ Path time! Start the music! We will start once again with a shoutout to our former member Holden who had a big win to pretty much solidify his place outside the TB, as he is now 2 games up, with some tiebreakers. Congrats!

This week the cutoff for the 4 teams is a lot easier due to records. Let's start with Donny. He has the worst PF in the league, but he has 4 wins, which is really all that matters at the end of the day here. He got a big unexpected win against Jack (which was good for me (Me Show)), but the pack is close behind, as Drew was able to keep it a 1 game gap (more on that later). I am still not comfortable if I am Donny right now, but 5 wins is a good target to hit.

Now we will do Drew and Berdos together. I had said last week that I think Berdos is in a good spot as he would be able to score 150+ a few times down the road, but unfortunately for him, Drew also scored that. It was a massive win for Drew as it actually lifts him out of the bottom 2 for the first time all year.

We now also get a good idea on tiebreakers. It is looking extremely likely that we have some sort of tie for 9th place between Donny, Drew, and Berdos. If that's the case, it goes to shared record. Drew has played all his games against these 2, and is 2-1. Donny is 1-1, and Berdos is 0-1. Not to get too deep in the weeds, but what this all likely means is Berdos REALLY needs to beat Donny in week 13. A loss there would be devastating as he would lose tiebreakers to both of them. This was a really bad loss for him.

As for our basement dweller. I'll say it again, he is not the worst team in the league. Yet that is just how the cookie crumbles sometimes. His spot in the toilet bowl is pretty much set.

It's a good day when your player goes off but the Patriots still win

- No one currently has a win streak or loss streak over 2 games.
- Holden is the only member of the FAIL division to have lower than a .500 winning percentage against Awesome. Jack and Drew are the only members of Awesome to have a winning record against FAIL.
- We are pacing for the 2nd lowest average PF in league history. In total, the avgPF is 142.7.

The only year with lower was 2019 with 141.4.

■ Quiz Answer: QB: Jaxson Dart, RB1: Cam Skattebo, RB2: Ashton Jeanty, WR1: Emeka Egbuka, WR2: Tet McMillan, WR3: Chimere Dike, TE1: Tyler Warren, FLEX: RJ Harvey.
