Stomp Around

Goosezilla razes, Donny rages

Picked up the pieces while wondering if judgement day will ever show up for Berdos...

- This week featured the 8th biggest margin of victory, as Andrew beat Drew by 85 points. When looking at the top 3 biggest blowouts in league history, Drew was a part of 2 of them, both on the losing side. He lost by 114 points to Michael, and lost by 108 points to Andrew.

- Drew complained that he always seems to play teams when they score well. In the small sample size of the top 10 scores in league history, he's at least marginally correct. He has faced 2 of those teams, tied for most with Jack.
- Travis Hunter is currently DB40 in the league. There are currently 31 free agents with higher scores than him. Yet Brian currently has the 6th best starter points at that position.

- Quiz 1: We have had 7 drafts, which means we have had 70 first round draft selections. We all know who has had the least amount. Give me the person who has had the 2nd least amount of first round selections, and who has had the most.
- #PathToThePotty time! We had a huge game this week, and Berdos came out with a resounding win. His top 5 quality was never in doubt; CMC, Chuba, Adams, and others would all start on most people's lineups. It was always a question of the next man up. Once bye weeks hit, we may see him trade picks for cap space to find waiver wire gems. He needs to make sure that he finds wins wherever he can. He has a winnable game next week against Jack, especially if Jack prays for CMC to snap his leg like he did a few years ago.

Malik Nabers put in an otherworldly performance, but it wasn't enough for Holden

Holden once again is in a place of peril. He sits bottom 3 in points for. He also has a winnable game next week though, as he plays Jennette, who is one of the owners with a worse PF. If he wants 5, he needs to start adding wins in matchups where he can.

It's still probably one week too early, but we have other candidates for this section. If you are one of those teams who end up 0-3, you best believe you'll get a blurb here later. No pressure!!

- Quiz 1 answer: Kyle only has had 5 1st round draft picks (Berdos has had 3), and Holden has had 11.

- Quiz 2: Name as many of the above draft picks for Kyle and Holden as you can.

- Derrick Henry never scored under 5 points as a member of the Ravens until last week. The last time he scored under 3 points was back all the way in week 3 of the 2023 season.

- We were oh so close to having a Team of the Week where all members started. 12/13 of the members all started. The only one who didn't was Carl Granderson #ThanksJack.

- Now this may not be a surprise, but Berdos has an insane 99% efficiency rating. He's only missed out on 3.54 points this year. Second place, Kyle, has 91%.

- Speaking of, strike 1 for Kyle on not setting his lineup correctly. We have a strict "No starting lineup manipulation" rule when it comes to tanking. 3 strikes may lead to a forfeiture of his 1st round pick! No excuses on a player who's been out since Friday. You want the fuhrer, you get the fuhrer.

- Sad to see how far the People's Parlay has fallen. We are losing recipes here. I expect to see a better turnout this week.

Daniel Jones prevented JT from scoring 50 points. Luckily Jack still won.

- Holden has lost 7 straight games. His longest losing streak is 8 games.

- Quiz 2 answer:

Kyle's draft picks: N'Keal Harry, Devonta Smith, Jaxon Smith-Njigba, Kendre Miller, Tet McMillan

Holden's draft picks: DK Metcalf, D'Andre Swift, Tee Higgins, Kyle Pitts, Michael Carter, Sky Moore, Christian Watson, Zay Flowers, Marvin
